

ROMANI IDENTITIES AND ANTIGYPSYISM

JULY 2 – JULY 13, 2018 BUDAPEST, HUNGARY

The summer course is part of the Roma in European Society Initiative funded by the Velux Foundations, Open Society Foundations Roma Initiatives Office, and the Roma Education Fund, in cooperation with Council of Europe.

Image by Damian Le Bas

COURSE DIRECTORS

Ethel Brooks, Department of Women's and Gender Studies, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, USA
Iulius Rostas, Romani Studies Program, Central European University, Budapest, Hungary

FACULTY

Colin Clark, School of Media, Culture and Society, University of the West of Scotland (UWS), UK
Timea Junghaus, the European Roma Institute for Arts and Culture, Berlin, Germany
Angela Kocze, Romani Studies Program, Central European University, Budapest, Hungary
Anna Mirga-Kruszelnicka, Roma Studies Program, Central European University, Budapest, Hungary
Marton Rovid, Center for Policy Studies, Central European University, Budapest, Hungary

BRIEF COURSE DESCRIPTION

The aim of this CEU Summer School is to link participating students and scholars with a transnational network of scholars in order to investigate the forms of oppressions faced by Roma and to analyze the mechanisms through which exclusion of Roma takes place in different fields of public life. A methodological, analytical and theoretical focus on antigypsyism serves as prerequisite for a multifaceted research agenda with strong policy implications. The questions this summer school aims to address are: What is antigypsyism? Is this the best term to be used? Is antigypsyism measurable? How to analyze antigypsyism? What are its manifestations? How is it produced and reproduced in different areas of public life? Is there a need to propose new terms to interpret and analyze the situation of Roma? What is the relation between antigypsyism and Romani mobility, often defined as nomadism? How is antigypsyism related to gender and class?

The summer school will serve as a platform from which we can develop communities of scholarship and practice that feature Roma at their center, as well as a mentoring network, scholarly outputs and practical engagement with Romani communities through dialogue and scholarly practice.

We are especially interested in recruiting scholars at an early stage in their career of Romani background, but do welcome applications by non Roma (Ph.D. students, postdoctoral fellows, junior faculty) with a proven relevant research and teaching record, in the field of history, sociology, political science or related humanities and social science disciplines.

Application from all over the world is encouraged. Accepted participants will receive scholarship to cover participation costs.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: FEBRUARY 14, 2018

Central European University's summer school (CEU SUN), established in 1996, is a program in English for graduate students, junior or post-doctoral researchers, teachers and professionals. It offers high-level, research-oriented, interdisciplinary academic courses as well as workshops on policy issues for professional development, taught by internationally renowned scholars and policy experts (including CEU faculty).

<http://summeruniversity.ceu.edu/romani-2018>

CEU Summer University

✉ P.O. Box: Budapest 5, P.f.: 1082, H-1245

☎ (36 1) 327 381, facebook.com/ceu.summer

E-mail: summern@ceu.edu

Non-discrimination policy statement

Central European University does not discriminate on the basis of – including, but not limited to – race, color, national and ethnic origin, religion, gender or sexual orientation in administering its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.